Connect HDMI Cable:

As long as your TV is newer than eight years old, you should have an extra HDMI input on the back or side of your TV. Your cable TV box probably occupies one slot.

An HDMI cable can handle both audio and video.

1. Pick up a spare HDMI cable
2. Plug one end of the HDMI cable into your laptop's HDMI output jack. Usually found on the back or side.
3. Plug the other end of the cable into your television's HDMI port. You may need to move your computer closer to the TV, and it's a good idea to have your PC or Mac plugged into the wall for power.
4. Use your TV remote to change the Source or Input to the one designated for your computer connection, such as HDMI 2. You should see what's on your laptop screen.
5. Use your computer trackpad or mouse to click play on the video!
